

The remaining term of a loan can be adjusted by means of a loan term reduction/extension.

This results in a new payment plan with a corresponding adjustment of the instalment of the deal:

- When reducing the term, the instalments increase.
- When extending the term, the instalments decrease.