

FlexFinance manages the information required for loan applications. In this case, in-house systems can be provided and interfaces connected to third-party systems. The individual components of the loan application system can be customised accordingly to meet requirements.

