

Customers' master data usually comprise information on the registered address, postal address, date and place of birth, communication details (telephone, fax, e-mail), if possible the marital status, number of children, information on the financial information and tax assessment.

Information on employment conditions can also be captured such as industrial sector, professional position, employer, duration and time limit of employment.